Mycroft Inc. and ScaleMatrix to Jointly Exhibit at Cloud Expo in New York

NEW YORK, N.Y. (June 6, 2011) - Mycroft Inc., the global innovation leader in delivering IT identity and security solutions as a service, today announced that its partnership with ScaleMatrix, a pioneer in private cloud, dedicated server and colocation services, has yielded significant demand since its launch in February for the industry's first fully encapsulated security solution.

To further bolster the alliance, Mycroft Inc. and ScaleMatrix will jointly exhibit at Cloud Expo in New York City's Javits Center from June 6-9. Executives from both companies will be available to demonstrate newly emerging opportunities to gain secure access to – and to optimize the performance of – enterprise cloud fabrics.

In addition, Mycroft Inc.'s founder Jonathan Freeman will lead an interactive session on Tuesday, June 7th at 9:55am titled "Your Cloud, Your Way". Session attendees will have the chance to win the new iPad 2.

"Companies around the world are continuing to evaluate cloud fabrics as a way to gain known benefits such as elasticity, reduced time-to-market and lower capital investments," said Freeman. "We have found that it's the combination of a cloud offering wrapped with guaranteed security and consistency that has significantly accelerated customer adoption."

"Cloud Expo is an ideal environment for us to help companies understand how they can benefit from our joint success in harnessing the attributes of cloud fabrics," said Mark Ortenzi, CEO of ScaleMatrix.
